COMPATIBILITY

Verify with the pedal manufacturer that the pedal model will accommodate toe clips and straps.

TOOLS

Phillips head screwdriver
9mm open end wrench

TOE CLIPS & STRAPS INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

1. Remove the front reflector attached to the pedal if present. Line up the bolt holes or slots in the bottom of the metal clip with the bolt holes on front of the pedal.

NOTE: We strongly recommend that the reflector be replaced by another reflector or a reflective surface such as an adhesive backed tape.

2. Push the bolts through the clip and the pedal and tighten the nuts with a wrench or Allen key. For certain pedal models, a bolt may fit a machined opening in the pedal such that no nut is necessary.

3. Feed the free end of the strap through the slot in the pedal cage, beginning at the side away from the bottom bracket, also called the non-axle side. Pull it with pliers if it is too tight to move with just your fingers.

4. Thread the strap through the opening or openings at the top of the clips. Check if the buckle end of the strap is about 2 inches from the pedals outside edge.

5. Feed the strap through the buckle and snug the straps so that the strap fits comfortably.

6. Repeat steps 1–5 for the second pedal.

⚠ WARNING: Periodically check to make sure the toe clip bolts are tight. Loose toe clips could cause a loss of control that could result in a crash causing serious injury.

NOTE: For street riding, the straps should not be as tight if they were if you were sprinting in the velodrome or in a road race. Make adjustments so that you get the benefit of clips and straps, but you can still safely react to changing traffic conditions, and unclip from the pedals if and when necessary.
